Jim Gordon Conversation 3/16/83

Walk-ins and the shift: Hasn't read Montgomery's book so doesn't know what she says but there are very few walk-ins at this point. It happens only in extreme circumstances like when a person is about to die. Mother is probably not one even though she has had a marked change in the last couple of months. He feels that Aunt Virginia is helping her while she sleeps - during her dreams and that this is the reason for the change. He doesn't see the World War until 1994 or after and the shift in about 2011. Lobsom Rhampa, (sp.) a tibetian monk who came in as a walk-in as a Canadian is the one who popularized the idea about walk-ins. Einstein: Jim knows he has reincarnated but isn't sure where - could be what Montgomery says. Also possible that Sadat is the reincarnation of Horus

Bidee: she is still on the other side but learning and planning what to do

Aunt Nellie: Her beliefs about what it was going to be like have held her back. She doesn't realize yet that she can grow, learn and go on.

Grandmother: She is almost ready to start learning and planning.

Daddy: Has had a very mental past - has avoided emotional things and he is trying to deal with these now. He and I were together in the late 1600s or early 1700s in England. He was a school instructor for a family - I was the daughter of one of the servants and took great advantage of his teachings even though I was not supposed to.

Chip: Has a very clear picture of what he wants and goes about it with definate purpose. If something goes wrong, or not to his way of thinking, he pushes this to the back of his mind. Jim doesn't know whether this is bad or good. When things don't go his way he becomes anxious and sometimes depressed - very.

Robert: Is very philosophical. In a former life he was a priest in S. France or N. Spain - 1500s-1600s. That life is strongly influencing this one. I asked if it was in the period when we were all there together and he said yes. Robert helped make it much easier for me than it would have been otherwise.

George: Searching, for something, for satisfaction. Has a lot karmically to overcome, because 200 years ago he gave up a great deal that was offered to him.

After that we talked about what I had been reading, doing etc. I said I had been trying to dissolve clouds and that I had even tried to tip the wastebasket. He said tipping wastebaskets took a lot of energy and that cloud dissolving was easier. I said my energies could probably be spent in better ways than trying to tip over garbage. I asked when I was going to meet him - he said he was going to try to get up here in the next couple of months. I didn't realize until later when talking to JEF that Jim was also in Spain. Jim said that he told John that I would be the one of the 3 who would grow and change the most for it was meant that I should come into this now. Lynne later said that Jim had said that I would be the one to lead the others into this.
